

County Tax Picture Dims As State Cuts Rail Value

The whopping big reduction in valuation for taxation purposes granted railroads operating in Colorado is going to be a severe blow to the tax situation in Routt county.

The Colorado Tax Commission that fixes values on all railroads and public utilities last week made the valuation cut and said it was due to decreased earnings. On no other class of property or business are earnings considered when fixing valuations.

The Denver & Rio Grande operates 90 miles of track in Routt county and the value of the entire system is pro-rated to the counties on a mileage basis.

The cut, if allowed to stand, will mean a loss of $208,640 valuation in Routt county. In two years time the railroad valuation in Routt county has been lowered $362,080.

It might mean a higher tax levy in both county and school districts as there apparently is no other way to make up the loss in valuation.

This year the county also faces the loss of about a half a million in valuation as a result of the abandonment of the Colorado-Utah mine at Mt. Harris and the Keystone mine at Oak Creek.

The valuation of the Denver & Rio Grande as it was certified by the tax commission now is $3,281,380. In 1958 the valuation was $3,490,020 and in 1957 it was $3,643,460.

The Denver & Rio Grande is one of the best paying railroads in the nation and it has piled up substantial net profits in the past two years.

The Tax Commission lowered the valuation of the Yampa Valley Electric Assn. from $602,780 to $596,400. The Telephone Co valuation was increased from $116,340 to $122,780.

County assessors have been in conference and are discussing means of resisting the reduced valuations for the railroads but a definite plan of action has not yet been decided.

Helen Sherrod Is Winner In Grange Contest

Routt county was well represented at the statewide sewing contest judging held in Denver on June 5. Helen Sherrod of Steamboat placed first in modeling and Bobby Raye Cross of Hayden was third in sewing.

There were 1134 garments judged in Denver, Routt county entrants rated high on sewing ability but fell down on points in the picking of materials for their exhibits.

The Grange believes surpluses are caused by under-consumption, not by over-production, and the sewing contest is one way devised to help decrease the surplus.

The National Grange has now launched a baking contest to help decrease the food surplus.

Summer Band Being Planned By Lions Club

The Lions club will attempt to sponsor a summer band program again this year. A meeting will be held in the band room at school next Tuesday at 8 p.m. It is hoped to have more adult band members and all who can play musical instruments are asked to attend the Tuesday meeting.

The band concerts last year were a big success and brought many people to town for the regular performances.

This is 160 percent over any previous year for raising money for the Cancer fund.

Mrs. Gray said there were 66 volunteer workers throughout the county that were responsible in helping make the drive such a success.

Beta Sigma Phi, with three chapters in Steamboat, played an important role in helping raise the needed money. Mrs. Gray is a member of Beta Sigma Phi.

Sports Car Fans Enjoy Rally To Steamboat

The 75 members of the Denver Sports Car club who participated in the Rally to Steamboat Springs Saturday and Sunday were more than pleased with the trip and the hospitality shown them. It is believed that the Rally will come this way again in 1960.

The cars left Denver in minute intervals starting at 4:01 a.m. and the first car arrived here at 4 p.m. Each driver and navigator was given a map when leaving Denver to show the route and check points.

The winning car was a Corvette driven by Paul Chamberlain with Dr. Jack Chamberlain as navigator. The score of the car No. 38 was 147, each second missed on check points counted a point, so in the day of driving the car missed being early or late by only 147 seconds, or a trifle more than two minutes.

No. 2 place also went to a Corvette driven by Bill Breach with his wife as navigator. Third place was a Porsche driven by L. C. Folles and navigated by Ray Burns.

Others in the first 10 were: No. 4, Porche, Joe and Ada Murray; No. 5, Triumph, Bob and Margaret Fountain of Golden; No. 6, Triumph, Jim and Charlene Patch; No. 7, Hillman, Ross and Veda Hartman; No. 8, Volkswagon, Howard and Nancy Dick; No. 9, Chevrolet, Rocelle Wright and John McRoberts; No. 10, Robert Ramsey and Lorraine Barteldes.

In the team race the winners were Louise McClelland and Ann Sweeney, Robert Ramsey and Lorraine Barteldes, and Harley Durham and David Pauling.

The three car team place was made up of Ruth Adelson and Jack Potts, Rocelle Wright and John McRoberts and Martha Zietlow and Nellie Rice.

In the Gymkhana held Sunday morning at the rodeo grounds Paul Sevigny in a Porsche was first in the over 1,500 litre class and Morrison Shaw in a Renault won the under 1,500 litre class.

Bill Clarkson of El Paso, Texas, in a Ferrari, won the award for coming the longest distance to the Rally.

Receipts from the 50-cent charge for the gymkhana were $105 and Ralph Hinkson of the Harbor Hotel donated the balance of the $200 needed for trophies in the various events.

Dr. and Mrs. Ben Mayer Jr. of Denver, former Steamboat residents, were on the committee that arranged the successful rally.

Two Small Fires In Forest Show Great Blaze Danger

With two small fires in the forest last weekend, Keith Knutson, Forest Service staff assistant, warns that the woods are extremely dry and extreme caution should be exercised.

Thursday, June 11, a small fire was started by a fisherman in Hinman park on the Elk river. This fire started on the river bank and worked itself up near a timber stand before it was brought under control by Forest service crews, Knutson said.

Sunday a lightning caused fire started north of the Hahona Peak reservoir which burned about a quarter acre before it was brought under control by persons from Colburne, Lynn Jones from the Forest Service did final clean up work to make sure the fire was extinguished, Knutson said.

Knutson remarked that the Forest Service was burning slash on cut over areas on the Arapaho Forest which was the reason for all the smoke in the forest between Steamboat and Berthoud pass.

Until we get a good general rain, Knutson said, there will have to be extreme care while smoking and having camp fires in wooded areas.

Monday full work crews were put on for the summer with Forestry students from all over the United States making up the bulk of the crews.

One of the crews will take an inventory of all the recreation possibilities of the forest in this area. This is part of a nation-wide survey by the government which set up a Recreation Resources Review committee to study all the potential recreation facilities in the United States.

A timber crew will be estimating the amount of timber available for future sales, Knutson said. This crew will be under the supervision of Richard Fletcher who just graduated from Colorado State University at Fort Collins. Fletcher moved here with his wife and three children.

Another crew working out of the Steamboat office will be doing engineering work which will do survey work this summer.

Other crews will be on the different districts and will clean camp grounds, maintain trails and fences, Knutson said.

Water Problems To Be Discussed At Meeting In Craig On July 7

Water problems will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held in Craig on July 7. The meeting is being sponsored by the Craig Lions club, the Kiwanis club, Elks and Chamber of Commerce.

The following day the members of the Water Conservation Board will hold their regular July meeting in Craig and will be taken on a tour of the proposed Juniper dam site and the Savery and Slater dams.

Representatives of the Bureau of Reclamation and officials from Wyoming and Utah will be present at the two meetings.

The two prospective reclamation projects at Juniper and Savery-Pot Hooks will be urged as necessary for the orderly development of the upper Colorado river basin.

Colorado is interested in both projects and Utah has shown interest in the Juniper dam as most of the land to be irrigated would be in that state. The Savery-Pot Hooks project would provide water for lands in both Colorado and Wyoming.

Ed C. Johnson, former senator and governor and at present Upper Colorado River Basin Commissioner, will be at the meeting. He long has been a proponent of the Juniper project as one of the most important developments that can be made in the state.

Struble Family Picked As "Tourist of Week"

The trip through Salina, Kansas, held some anxious moments for Philip Struble and his family.

Phil, his wife Donna, and sons Bobby and Kent were waved to the curb by an officer of the law while traveling on U. S. 81 by-pass through Salina.

Their anxiety turned to smiles when they found out they had been chosen as "Tourist of the Week" and were guests of the Salina Chamber of Commerce.

They were treated to overnight lodging, evening meal, and their car was washed, greased and filled with gas. The also received free passes to the movie and tickets to the Indian Burial Ground.

Phil said later, "This beats getting a ticket for speeding."

Also traveling with the Struble family was Phil's mother, Mrs. Roy Struble, and his aunt, Winifred Young.

There will be many features for the Roundup to be held Friday and Saturday, July 3 and 4. George Cook, chairman of the event, said this week that running horses will be here from several Colorado points, Wyoming and Utah.

Tough and onery bucking stock will be brought in from Wyoming and Cook says some of the best riding talent in the West will be here to test the mettle of the twisting broncs.

Jay Gentry of Meeker will furnish the steers for the bulldogging, the Hayden Roping club will furnish the calves and steers for roping.

Noted Angus Breeder Buys Big Ranch Near Steamboat

Lloyd Rudd of the Haystack Angus Ranch has purchased the Ernest Bridges ranch on Deep creek and will take possession on November 1.

It is one of the largest livestock ranches in Western Colorado and is made up of 4,300 acres of leased land. It is capable of carrying more than 1,000 head of cattle.

The exact purchase price was not made known but it is around the quarter million dollar mark.

Mr. Rudd spent his boyhood in Steamboat Springs and vicinity. He is a nephew of E. E. Yount of Steamboat.

While in the army he and another member of his outfit worked out a plan for an automatic coffee vending machine that has been immensely successful. The machine is used in many large industrial plants for dispensing coffee and it also is used in many other locations where it is coin operated.

Several years ago Mr. Rudd purchased a ranch near Longmont and he also has a farm near Philadelphia, where he makes his headquarters. At the present time he owns more than 600 purebred Angus cattle and has some of the most famous bulls of that breed in America today.

He plans to move his breeding herd to Routt county and continue to raise purebred Angus. Mr. Rudd also has some of his Angus on small ranches he owns in Twenty-mile park.

Mr. Rudd inspected ranches in many parts of the country before deciding this was the place most suited to his needs in expanding his purebred Angus business.

The sale was handled by James B. Thompson of the Strout Realty Co. in Steamboat.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridges came to Routt county from Lamar several years ago and have carried on a successful cattle raising business. Mr. Bridges will retain his herd of Herefords and plans to continue to make his home in this area, and continue operations on a smaller scale.

Business Good In This Area, Report Shows

Business definitely is on the upturn in Steamboat Springs and the rest of Colorado, it is shown by figures released this week by the University of Colorado's Bureau of Business Research.

Employment in the Steamboat Springs area was reported up 2 percent from March and 14.7 percent over the previous April.

Bank debts were up 19.6 percent from April of last year and up 6.8 percent from the first four months of 1958.

Electric power consumption was recorded at 510,000 kilowatt hours. This was an increase of 17.8 percent over April 1958 and up 14.3 percent from the like four months period of last year. Residential building permits were up 84.1 percent over the first four months of 1958.

Business looks good in Colorado this year, according to the University of Colorado's Bureau of Business Research.

"All business indicators, with the exception of fuel production, show favorable gains for the month of April as compared with the same month of 1958—and with the like period last year," the bureau monthly magazine, Colorado Business Review, reports in the May issue.

Colorado's population has boomed more than 29 percent during the past eight years for a total of 1,711,000 persons as of last July, the Review continues. Percentage-wise, Adams and Jefferson counties show the largest gains, 128.9 and 101.1 percent respectively.

"Other counties experiencing healthy gains are Arapahoe with a 42,900 actual increase, or 82.3 percent, and El Paso with a 74.5 percent gain for 55,000 additional persons," the publication reports.

Denver gained the greatest number of people, 109,300, for a population increase of 26.3 percent over 1950.

Bank debts, demand deposit accounts, in Colorado totaled $7,410,287,000 for the first four months of this year, for an 11.9 percent gain from the same period a year ago and a gain of 16.2 percent from April 1958.

Retail trade in March increased 15 percent from the previous March as compared with the nation's 10 percent gain over last year. During the three-month period Colorado registered a 7.4 percent rise from 1958.

Close to 47,000 persons rushed to the Rockies in Colorado during April. This figure compares with about 42,600 for the previous April, and constituted an 8.1 percent increase from the January-April period of 1958.

"Both non-farm and farm employment rose over April of 1958, showing 4.1 percent and 1.1 percent gains respectively," according to the magazine. "Although

Steaming Along

What Causes Inflation?

When the Treasury seeks to pay higher rate of interest on its obligations that is furthering the economy. It will cost the taxpayers about $3 billion a year additional in interest and that is supposed to be good. Three billion spent to relieve poverty and suffering, assist schools, allow more home building and development projects in the West are labeled as strictly inflationary proposals.

But the higher interest rates will effect everyone who is forced to borrow money to stay in business. A few will benefit in an immense degree and the great majority will suffer.

But with the colored news that is diffused from official sources and gobbled up by news magazines and large newspapers of the nation it would seem that inflation is a one way street and caused only by those who only desire a chance to survive in this hectic age.

Don't Sell Nelson Short

Vice President Richard Nixon was in Denver this week to attend a number of events including a meeting of Young Republicans of the nation. He is running for the presidency a mile a minute and looking over his shoulder at another man who understands something about public relations—Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

While Nixon has been campaigning steadily for quite a few years and has lined up many of the party leaders, he hears disturbing rumblings from the Rockefeller camp.

Many of the progressive leaders are distrustful of Nixon and are yearning to put on a full sized revolt if he thinks he can go to the national convention next year and receive the nomination on a silver platter. Until the elections last fall there was not a cloud on the horizon and then there sprung into prominence that young upstart of a Rockefeller to show that he had some vote getting ability, a lot of ideas and the courage of his convictions.

Rockefeller pushed through a tax program in New York state that makes the Colorado tax plan look minor. But he stuck with his guns, even when advised by many to play it cosy. But he knows enough about finances and a sound financial structure to go up against the blaze, and he made friends by sticking with his convictions.

He is not a trimmer, or trying to be all things to all men, like the present vice president, who probably will have to go to the convention without Checkers, his main prop in one previous campaign.

Pat Brown Has Convictions

Pat Brown, California's new governor, is pushing through some ambitious plans for development of that state. He also has refused to trim his sails and risks being put in the "big spender" class for his water program.

He is instisting the Legislature approve his 20-year program for construction of dams, storage reservoirs, aqueducts and canals to transport water from northern California into the water short areas of the San Joaquin valley and southern California.

The plan calls for the expenditure of some $1,750,000,000 in the next 20 years. It points up Governor Brown as a man with big ideas and certainly his realization that water is the life blood of the entire state and its growth and development is worthy of praise.

The Feather River plan also might take some of the heat off the upper Colorado river basin states and stop some of the tugging and fighting by California to obtain most of the water of the Colorado river.

With Other Editors--

The TV programs depicting the early days of the west show so many men being killed it is surprising that there were sufficient men left to tame the west. What awful stuff to be feeding the growing population. Their ideas of the history of this country is going to be a bit befuddled.—Las Animas Leader.

Much ado is being made about the first rocket delivery of mail, about a hundred years after the first run of the Pony Express. All very exciting, those figures which show how fast modern man can move. However, we didn't see any time schedule for the time it took to drive a car through traffic to take the mail to the point of departure or the time it took the post office to clear it and get it its destination. Probably a little faster Pony Express, at that.—Grand Union Sentinel.

Probably the only reason that worry kills more people than work is because more people worry than work.—Pagosa Springs Sun.

The present Eisenhower request for leaving the ceiling off the government borrowing is the last step in a road that the administration jumped on when it started out seven years ago. Like the road to Hell, the Eisenhower administration professed only good intentions when it gave the bankers an increase in the government bond rate at the first of its administration.

President Eisenhower had evidently learned from President Truman that you don't win friends and influence bankers by keeping down the interest rates. That's one of the things President Truman insisted on doing; President Eisenhower reserved the trend.

Now, on the heels of a declaration that the steelworkers shouldn't be asking for a raise, the President asks for an end to the ceiling of 4 1/2 percent interest on the national debt.

It is little consolation that at this stage of the game, Congress can do little but comply. The administration has managed the economy down the high-interest path until nobody could halt the headlong plunge.

If President Eisenhower can read history, it will give him little comfort that we are repeating the story of the Herbert Hoover administration in regard to fiscal policies.

"Raise that interest rate."
"Hold down wages."
It all sounds fine when you give it as a part of a sermon against inflation and sin.

But that way lies national disaster—depression.—Aurora Star.

BEEF for FATHER'S DAY

(COLORADO BEEF, THAT IS)

Father's Day MENU

- Glacier Chilled Shrimp Cocktail
- ROAST PRIME RIB OF COLORADO BEEF AU JUS
- Baked Colorado Potato
- Asparagus in Melted Butter
- Corn Sticks
- Tossed Green Salad
- Fresh Patisade Peach Sundae
- Coffee Milk

Match the Menu to the Man— Roast Prime Rib of Colorado Beef au jus!

It's the new tradition, just like turkey for Thanksgiving, the Christmas goose, or ham for Easter. And if you ask Dad, he might declare succulent Prime Rib of Colorado Beef on June 21 the best entree of the year!

Anybody can cook Roast Prime Rib of Colorado Beef. It's foolproof. Place in an open roasting pan in a hot (450°) oven for 10 minutes to brown and retain the juices. Then roast at low (300°) temperature, 25 minutes to the pound. Yield: Terrific! Serve and eat.

What makes Colorado Beef so good? It's the nation's finest. It comes from specially-selected, specially-bred animals, watered from snow-melted streams, brought to maturity in lush mountain-valley pastures, and finished for market in Colorado's scientific feed lots. There's none better from anywhere else in the world.

Beef is good for Dad...for you, too. What's the most famous breakfast in the land? It's a small lean steak, eaten by you know who. Recommended by heart specialists and other doctors for every high-protein diet. The whole family will benefit when you serve Colorado Beef, any day in the year.

Colorado climate... the magic ingredient

One of a series of advertisements prepared in the interest of the People of Colorado by the State Advertising and Publicity Committee.

Call it cooperation—working together Or old-fashioned courage and enterprise. It's still the backbone of our rural electric system.

No rest for this Chevy... round the clock the engine never stops!

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thriftmaster 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action. The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability—in any weight class—at any price.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Wheat Marketing Referendum Announced For July 23

Wheat producers in the 39 "commercial" wheat states, including Colorado, will vote July 23 to determine whether marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1960 wheat crop.

The national referendum has been set for the seventh successive year by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson in view of a wheat supply that is 99.6 percent above normal supply level.

The 1960-crop marketing quotas will become effective only if they are approved by at least two-thirds of the producers who vote in the referendum, according to F. N. Jordan, extension supervisor at Colorado State University.

All growers who expect to harvest for grain more than 15 acres of wheat next year will be eligible to vote July 23, Jordan said. Polling places will be set up in each county, at locations to be announced later.

All farmers will be notified of their individual wheat acreage allotments before the referendum date. The national allotment is 55 million acres, the same as for the 1959 crop and the lowest permitted by law. Colorado's 1960 allotment is 2,676,977 acres, about 18,700 less than in 1959.

The 1960 minimum average wheat support price will also be announced before the referendum, Jordan said. On the basis of present wheat supply, the legal minimum support rate would be 75 percent of parity.

If growers approve wheat marketing quotas as they have in each of the last six years, all farmers who comply with wheat acreage allotments can market their wheat without restriction. Their wheat will also be eligible for price support.

Growers exceeding their acreage allotment will be subject to a marketing quota penalty which, under present law, is 45 percent of the May 1 parity price of wheat.

If marketing quotas are disapproved in the July 23 referendum, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketing. However, Jordan said, farmers who wish to remain eligible for price support still must comply with acreage allotments.

The price support rate, if quotas are not approved, will be 50 percent of parity as of July 1, 1960.

Careless Use Of 2, 4-D Will Damage Crops

Careless use of 2, 4-D can lead to unfriendly neighbors, and perhaps lawsuits. Sensitive crops such as tomatoes and grapes can easily be damaged by 2, 4-D spray drift, according to Buck Taylor, Routt county agent for the Colorado State University Extension service.

To avoid trouble with drift damage, he suggests:

1. Do not apply 2, 4-D to growing crops on a windy day. Wind can carry destructive spray drift more than half a mile.
2. Use a high-gallonage sprayer that will apply the 2, 4-D in a coarse, less concentrated spray.
3. Use a low-pressure sprayer with not over 30 pounds of pressure.
4. Do not use 2, 4-D in a corn field adjacent to a sensitive crop. Instead use one of the pre-emergence chemicals that also will kill weeds effectively.
5. For killing brush in fence rows, use one of the new pellet forms of weed killer.
6. Avoid using the high-volatile ester formulations of 2, 4-D. Damaging fumes from these forms will produce a gas for as long as three days after application. Apply the amine form because with it there is less danger of producing fumes after application.

Fat Lamb Day Set For June 25

A Junior Fat Lamb Market Day has been set for June 25 at the Denver Union Stockyards, according to C. G. Elaver, state 4-H leader at Colorado State University. The marketing event is open to both 4-H and FFA members.

Young livestock raisers who plan to consign their lambs must report their intentions to their county extension agents and vocational agriculture teachers so their entries can be forwarded to state offices by June 22.

On the day of the sale, animals must be unloaded at the sheep docks by 7:30 a.m. All lambs must be consigned to a commission firm. Then they will be handled and sold under regular market procedure.

"All lambs entered must be part of a 4-H or FFA project," Staver emphasized. "No blocking or trimming will be permitted."

FARM FOLKS

by VIRGINIA ANDREW

A date has finally been set for the 1959 wheat referendum. We urge all wheat farmers to refuse to heed the persons and organizations who urge them to sell themselves short by voting for a release from all planting controls. Those who claim that an end to planting controls fosters freedom for the wheat farmer are perpetrating a giant hoax, an idea which can easily be invalidated if the producer will take time to do his own thinking on the subject.

Those who urge that planting controls be dropped use two main arguments. First of all, they say that governmental controls on planting are undemocratic and that the average grower will benefit by lowered or non-existent supports with increased acreage. Second, they hold forth the idea that more wheat at lower prices can be poured onto the world market to feed the hungry in other lands. On the first point, laws or controls of any kind on any sort of action or behavior may be undemocratic, but just the same the frame-work of democracy is made up of these very controls which limit the activities of individuals in the public interest.

We would venture to say that there is not one wheat farmer in the entire United States who can survive the market drop which is bound to come with uncontrolled planting. The only grower who can possibly hope to profit by increasing acreage enough to compensate for price loss is the one who operates tens of thousands of acres in the Middle West. Most of these growers are merely farmers on the side, with industrial interests as their main source of income, and if they do in fact take a loss on the farming operation it can be used to reduce their income tax. There isn't enough wheat land in northwestern Colorado to show a profit for wheat farmers of this area either with or without supports, if production is thrown wide open.

Second, everyone realizes that there are millions of hungry people in the world who could benefit thru the use of our wheat, but there is not any program within the foreseeable future which could take our wheat to them in large enough quantities to relieve even our present oversupply, let alone what would be created by wide opening plantings. Political and trade situations, money shortages and the fact that contaminated shipments of our wheat have prejudiced foreign markets all conspire to make it impossible to move any more than token shipments. We must be realistic in viewing world problems. We cannot expect to run our national agriculture on a basis which makes millions of people out of a few and opens out of the rest, and ask the world market to pick up the tab.

Wheat growers, don't go to the voting place and vote a blind and prejudiced vote for an end to controls. You will be signing the death warrant to your operation. If you have enough income from other sources so that farm losses are an income tax advantage, then such a vote might make sense, but few if any farmers in this area are in such a position. If you don't want supports, then don't use them, but stick to that acreage control program if you are to have any hope of staying in wheat production.

By New Methods and Old, from above and below, by day and by night, the battle against forest fires is waged. This year over 100,000 such fires will start from human carelessness. 5,000,000 or more acres of our priceless forest heritage will be destroyed, unless each one of you will remember to be careful with all fire. The tiniest spark can start a wildfire. Don't be responsible for burning a forest.

Food Comes First The Milk Group

The milk group includes: MILK—Fluid, whole, evaporated, skim, dry, buttermilk. CHEESE—Cottage, cream, cheddar type, natural or processed. ICE CREAM.

Milk and milk products are leading sources of calcium, without which bones and teeth do not develop properly. They also supply high quality protein, riboflavin, vitamin A, and many other nutrients. Surveys have shown Colorado residents are deficient in calcium, so we need to watch this part of the diet closely to see each adult gets at least three eight-ounce cups of milk a day and children and teenagers four eight-ounce cups.

If you have trouble getting your family to drink enough milk try serving cream soups, or vegetables, malted milk, puddings made with milk, ice cream. Milk tastes better if it is served cold and sipped slowly. Add powdered milk to dry ingredients of baking recipes. Substitute milk for water wherever possible in cooking.

Try these treats:
Egg Nog
1 egg beaten until foamy.
Add ½ t. vanilla.
Sugar to taste.
1 cup milk.
Beat until well mixed. Pour into a tall glass. Dust top with nutmeg.
This is especially good for someone convalescing from severe illness.

Rice Pudding
½ cup raw rice.
¾ to 1 cup sugar.
1 t. cinnamon.
2 t. vanilla.
5 cups milk.

Use 2 qt. casserole. Wash rice, add rest of ingredients. Stir to dissolve sugar. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 2 hours. Stir at end of first ½ hour and end of hour. Cook covered. One cup of seedless raisins may be added last hour of cooking.

Jerrald Truax Has Interesting Year As FFA Vice President

The following is a report as given at the State FFA convention in Cortez by State Vice President Jerrald Truax:

Being elected to the office of State Vice President at our State Convention last May, was one of the greatest thrills of my FFA career. The new officers met shortly after the convention adjournment to become better acquainted with each other and to receive more detailed instructions from Mr. Linsion, on what to expect in the year that was ahead of us.

On August 17, I traveled to Denver by bus to meet the rest of the officers before going to Pueblo to attend the FFA Children's Barnyard. The next seven days were filled with fun and satisfaction in watching anxious little girls and boys run from pen to pen looking at baby animals. I returned home on the 25th by car.

I drove to Denver on the 18th of September for our first Executive Committee meeting, where we wrote speeches and planned the year's activities. I returned home on the 20th.

I had the privilege of attending the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, as an alternate delegate, leaving Denver October 12, and returning to Denver October 17. While in Kansas City I got to meet many interesting people from all across our land.

I spent nine most enjoyable days in December visiting each of the nine FFA chapters and their State Farmer candidates in the Colorado River valley. I found that most of them were doing quite well.

On January 16, I journeyed to Denver to assist with the Children's Ranchland, a first year feature at the National Western Stock Show. The Ranchland was enjoyed by all, young and old alike. I returned home once again on January 25.

On February 4, I had the privilege of giving a short speech to the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union convention.

On February 21, I had the honor of meeting our state president in Denver, where we practiced our speeches for the Officers Tour. On the 22nd we traveled to Lamar for a week-long officer's tour of the Arkansas Valley during National FFA Week. We spoke at each of the following towns: Lamar, McClave, Rocky ord, Pueblo, Ordway and Las Animas.

March 19 was one again time for another Executive Committee meeting, where we reviewed all qualifying State Farmer applications. I returned home on the 21st.

I drove to Denver on April 30, to attend an Executive Committee meeting May 1-2. The purpose of the meeting was to choose the Foundation Award and other winners.

On June 5, I traveled to Cortez, Colorado, by car to help the state officers prepare for our State convention. Lynn Spangler and Maurice Harvey are to be commended on the fine work they displayed while attending the convention. They were certainly a credit to our chapter. We returned home on the 10th of June.

It has been a busy year and we as state officers appreciate your help and cooperation. It has certainly been a pleasure and educational to serve as State Vice President of Colorado Association of Future Farmers of America.

The following is a summary of my year's activities:

Miles traveled 7,032
Letters Received 38
Letters Written 30
Days spent in interest of FFA 40
Hours spent in interest of FFA 104
Speeches made 21

Out Of The Past

50 Years Ago
Charles Baer resigned as manager of the Hugs store and Hugh Monson was sent from Rawlins as replacement. The Hugs stores were pioneers in the chain store concept of merchandising.

William Smith and James Colbert were killed in an accident at the Perry mine at Oak Creek.

Arriving in Denver were 65 wealthy residents of central New York state on their way to Northwest Colorado to look for investments.

Rumors were prevalent that the Union Pacific had let a contract to build a branch line from Wamsutter to tap the rich Routt county coal fields.

The Haley-Gould cattle outfit unloaded 28 carloads of cattle at Steamboat and took them north for summer pasture.

The Town company was starting to grade a road to the Lithia spring.

Officials of the Farwell Mountain Copper Co. were expected to arrive soon. Plans called for a power plant on Elk river and rapid development of the property.

A new town ordinance made it unlawful for billiard and pool halls to stay open Sunday and made it illegal to play cards in the establishments any day of the week. Mayor Henry Schaffnit Jr. and Clerk J. G. Houston signed the ordinance.

The town was asking bids for 2,000 yards of earth to fill in Lincoln avenue between the First National Bank and the culvert at Butcherknife creek.

J. R. Daugherty of the Steamboat Dairy and F. B. Cowden of the Sanitary Dairy announced new prices. For those taking seven quarts or milk a week the price was 14 quarts for $1. Cream was $1.20 a gallon and separated milk 15 cents a gallon.

The High school class of 1929 held a reunion. Those present were Oleta Jacobs, Leona Foger, Charles Grayson, Catherine Sandelin, Charles Fleming, Helen Butler, Roger Butler, Robert Held.

Present at the LRC breakfast at Baer's lake were Ruth Alexander, Elna Alexander, Faye Allen, Irene Chase, Alberta Drake, Mary Fok, Helen Light, Sadie Shaw, Wanda Swinehart, Antoinette Welton, Alneith Peterson, Dorothy Wither.

June marks the beginning of one of the largest food festivals in the world—June Dairy Month. All over the country, press, radio and television as well as retail grocers and restaurants will be featuring milk and all the nourishing products made from it.

June is Dairy Month because green pastures and nearly ideal weather encourage cows to produce more milk during this month than any time during the year. Dairy foods—always a bargain in nutrition—carry especially attractive price tags during this season. That is why the U. S. Department of Agriculture supports June Dairy Month.

Recent surveys have shown the American diet to be falling short in calcium. How can we excuse ourselves when milk, our principal source of calcium, is such a plentiful food? Though the national dairy herd has declined in number since 1945, milk production has climbed steadily. This is because each cow is giving more milk than her ancestors, due to better breeding and better dairy management. All food supplies available in this country are sufficient in variety and amount to furnish every individual with the nutrients recommended for good nutrition.

During June Dairy Month, why don't you check yourself on the amount of milk and milk products you are giving your family. Is it adequate for good nutrition, 4 cups per day for children and 2 cups for adults. Remember, these are the minimum allowances.

In five full sessions this week major action taken by the House included passage of a one year extension of existing corporate and excise taxes, passage of a bill providing for an expanded program of life insurance companies, passed an agricultural bill relating to support levels for tobacco, passed stop-gap legislation to deal with the huge surplus of wheat stocks, and completed consideration of a bill that would establish a Coal Research and Development commission.

The coal research measure could prove to be of particular importance to Western Colorado, with its vast deposits of coal. The Bureau of Mines has carried on some research activities in this field, but these have been primarily long-range in nature. Under the bill considered by the House last week, an independent Coal Research commission would be established to concentrate intensive research efforts on promising short-range possibilities for developing new and more effective uses for coal, for improving expanding present uses, and for reducing the cost of coal production and distribution. It is hoped that a short-range program of this nature would have a more immediate beneficial effect on the presently depressed coal industry.

the final day of the session will take one extra day, thus we arrive at August 1. For an explanation of Einstein's equation I refer you to your nearest physics professor.

At this point perhaps I had better explain that we have been having a heat wave in Washington this week. The excessive heat has not affected my sanity, I hasten to add, but it has given rise to more than the normal amount of thinking about how much Mrs. Aspinall and I miss coal, colorful Western Colorado. This in turn has brought thoughts about just when we can expect to get away from the hot, humid banks of the Potomac. I hope August 1 is about right, but, on further reflection, I'm not sure that I would bet on it!

June Named Dairy Month

June is designated as Dairy Month. The reason is that during this 30-day period production of milk, cheese, and butter reaches its peak.

Throughout the state 4-H dairy projects are contributing their share to the over-all peak production month. More than three-quarters of a million 4-H club members across the nation are engaged in two specific dairy award programs.

Some of the boys and girls are raising their own dairy animals under the guidance of Extension Service specialists and county agents. They are learning about production, sanitation, marketing and showmanship. Another group is specializing in dairy foods demonstration, learning for themselves and then showing others why and how dairy products are essential to a balanced diet and good health.

A total of 12 college scholarships will be presented to the nation's top winners to be announced next fall during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Other awards include expense-paid trips to the congress, wrist watches and gold-filled medals.

The Oliver corporation, Chicago, will again provide 4-H awards for the dairy animal project winners, while Carnation company, Los Angeles, will present awards to the dairy animal project winners.

Both programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Along about this time in every session of Congress the favorite guessing game on Capitol Hill involves the day on which the Congress will end its session and go home.

Naturally, I've developed a fool-proof system for determining the exact date of adjournment. My system is known simply as "Aspinall's Law for Determining the Date of Adjournment of Any Given Session of Congress." Although it required a great deal of mathematical calculation and some heavy abstract thinking to arrive at the formula, it's really quite simple when you put it down on paper.

I have found that simplicity is the hallmark of all truly great ideas. For example, Einstein's equation which ultimately led to the atom bomb is expressed simply as E=MC². Similarly, Aspinall's Law can be expressed as a mathematical equation: A-25Fw4d (+ sfd). Such equations, of course, would be of no use unless they were interpreted. Briefly explained, my equation simply means that adjournment will come 49 days (give or take a few days) after 2 successive Fridays of work by the House. Thus, under Aspinall's Law, the present session of Congress should adjourn August 1, since the House was in session for the second successive Friday on June 12. Forty-nine days after June 12 would be July 31, but since that is a Friday it can be assumed that

Stars Arrive To Prepare For Festival Opening

Celebrated opera stars from the Metropolitan Opera company and the New York City Opera company arrived in Denver Saturday before proceeding up to the mountain festival town of Central City for rehearsals of "Die Fledermaus" and "The Ballad of Baby Doe" at the famous opera house.

A special parade welcoming them to Colorado started at the capitol grounds and proceeded through downtown Denver to Zeckendorf Plaza. Riding in antique vehicles, the stars were escorted on the parade by Denver and Colorado officials. Central Opera House Association officials, Opera House bell-ringers and flower girls, square dancers and a band.

As the antique vehicles parked along 16th streets, the guests were led into Zeckendorf Plaza by the official Central City bell-ringer. An exciting welcoming program included songs, square dances, Indian dances and other festivities in keeping with the Centennial theme. State and city officials, as well as Central City Opera House officials, participated in the program. Nathaniel Merrill, stage director of the Opera Festival, introduced the stars to the crowd gathered for the occasion.

After the program on the plaza, the cast embarked for Central City to begin intensive rehearsals for the Opera Festival which opens June 27. Earlier rehearsals have been held in New York City.

Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" and the Douglas Moore-John Latouche American opera, "The Ballad of Baby Doe," are the two festival presentations this year. Selected because of their unusual popularity in previous years, each of the operas is being presented in a new version. Robert J. Brown, general manager of the Opera House association, announced that advance tickets exceed, by a wide margin, those of any previous year in the festival's history.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown and children, Jerry and Bill, drove to Denver June 5 to visit at the home of Mr. Brown's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Brown. Mrs. Phil Struble New President Of Panhellenic

At its meeting last Wednesday night the Panhellenic association voted to retain the same officers until in January, when new officers will be elected, and thereafter to hold elections in January. Those who will serve the additional six months are: President, Mrs. Phil Struble; vice president, Mrs. Hugh Richards; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Dean Brunner.

Voting on pictures shown at the annual art exhibit held in the REA building June 5 and 6 showed that the outstanding favorite of those attending was "Sentinel" by Mrs. Vernon C. Williams of Hayden. The members used a point system in tallying votes and Mrs. Williams' picture was awarded 61 points. Second place also went to Mrs. Williams for her oil entitled "Come Spring," which received 34 points. Ranking in third spot was Adela Waldron's picture of deer among the aspens with 31 points, and fourth spot went to Mrs. Everett Winchell's water color, "Routt County in Summer."

Much comment was given to a black and white abstraction exhibited by Dorothy Slevelding, and to several of the water colors done by eighth grade students. It was the consensus of those viewing the exhibit this year that it was the best showing yet held. Special interest was shown in the "Three Bears" picture painted on velours, and to a shadow box painting of a desert scene in which the medium was sand and oil paint, to give a three dimensional perspective.

The Panhellenic group was greatly pleased by the number of exhibitors from throughout the valley who helped to make the show a great success.

Weather Control Research Asked By Sen. Carroll

U. S. Senator John A. Carroll (D-Colo) has asked the Senate Appropriations Committee for $2 million to initiate research into weather control.

Carroll said: "Weather modification has enormous implications to our nation in its internal and foreign affairs."

He cited opportunity to improve cyclical weather conditions in the 10 Great Plains states which are plagued by alternate periods of drought and floods.

Carroll also declared that an international race is on to control the weather and the winner could conceivably achieve a position which could "bring its adversaries to their knees."

Carroll pointed to instances where Russia has already claimed it has controlled weather.

"The question," Carroll said, "is not 'should we begin'. It is 'How fast can we catch up?'"

The funds requested by Carroll would be given to the National Science Foundation.

The weather control basic research program, was authorized by the last Congress in legislation sponsored by Senator Carroll and other Senators. However, the House of Representatives failed to provide necessary appropriations in the Independent Offices Appropriations bill for fiscal year 1960.

Alva Burton, County Pioneer, Services Friday

Alva Burton, colorful pioneer, died at the Routt County Memorial hospital Sunday after a long illness.

Mr. Burton, who was born Dec. 1, 1870, in Janes county, Indiana, had been a resident of Routt county since 1901. He was a shoeshine and newspaper boy on the streets of Denver when he was a youngster and gun-fighters were still at large on the streets of that growing city.

He came to Colorado by wagon train when a boy of four and during his lifetime saw some thrilling events in the settlement of the west.

While homesteading he hauled freight from Rawlins, Wyo., to Columbine for Jim Caron, pioneer storekeeper there.

After selling his homestead and later retiring from the saloon business he moved to Fort Morgan where at one time he was a deputy sheriff.

His wife died here in 1954 after 61 years of marriage.

Mr. Burton's brother, Roy, preceded him in death, also, and his only survivors are several nieces and nephews in eastern Colorado and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elma Beeler, who lives in Steamboat.

His body was taken to Denver for cremation and a memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Root Mortuary chapel.

Ralph Hudspeths Return To Steamboat

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hudspeth returned to Steamboat Tuesday after being away for two weeks. They attended the funeral of Mrs. Hudspeth's brother, B. H. Waggoner, at the Baptist church in Billings, Okla.

Later the Hudspeths visited other relatives and friends in Guthrie and Enid, Okla., their son, Ivan, in Denver, and their son, Everett, in Brighton.

Child Smothers In Bed Clothes At Home Here

Carl D. Nelson, 2 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson of Steamboat, was smothered in his bed clothes here Sunday.

The mother who works at a local cafe returned home early in the morning and went to sleep and the father went to work at a local filling station. When he came home at noon he found the dead body of his son wrapped in the bed covers.

In addition to his parents, Carl is survived by two brothers, Jack Allen and Leslie D.

The body was taken to Kookuk, Iowa, for services and burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Smith To Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Smith, pioneer residents of Routt county, will have an open house to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on July 5. The affair will be at their home, 1240 N. Holly, Turlock, Calif., where the Smiths have made their home for the past 12 years.

The Smiths were married here on Jan. 21, 1899, but delayed the golden wedding celebration until all their children could be with them.

The Smiths resided for many years at their fine ranch near Clark. Mr. Smith came to Routt county direct from England when he was 16 years old and then made his home with the Ackhurst family on their Elk river ranch. Mrs. Smith arrived in Routt county when she was 7 years old.

Their son, Lt. Claude A. Smith Jr., now is on duty with the army at El Paso, Texas. Another daughter, Mrs. Harland Harmon, and her family have resided at Turlock since last year. Another daughter, Bessie, moved to Ceres, near Turlock, last year.

A third daughter, Mrs. Paul Barth and her husband will come from Newark, N. J., for the event.

Also attending will be Mr. and Mrs. William Ackhurst of Vernal, Utah, son of the couple with whom Mr. Smith made his home when he first came to this country.

Mrs. Kelton arrived here this week with her two children, Maurine and Jerry, who will spend the summer here. She will drive back to California and will be accompanied by Mrs. Josephine Whitmer of Steamboat, sister of Mrs. Smith.

Mr. Smith was county commissioner for many years and played a prominent part in the development of Routt county.

The open house at Turlock will be from 2 until 5 p.m. and all their friends are invited. There are many former Routt county residents now living in California who are expected to go to Turlock to help in the golden wedding celebration.

I take this opportunity to thank my many friends for the flowers, cards, telephone calls and other kindnesses shown me while in the Routt County hospital. I also thank Dr. Price and the hospital staff.
